

Define the Service: What my parent needs is to get out more - what transportation options are available?

Getting out just for a change of pace or to see and to interact with other people is a necessity to a person's well being.

Many in-home care agencies provide transportation services. Additionally, public transportation is available in our community.

Arranging visits to a community or senior center adds to quality of life and gives purpose to leaving the house. For people who would benefit from more structured activity, and may, perhaps, require limited or even extensive care services, Adult Day Services or Adult Day Health can be arranged.

Unique solution ID: #1012

Author: Tech Support

Last update: 2007-05-06 23:52